An overview of the general guidelines for writing reports and other correspondence in a law enforcement environment.

Presenter: Tara M. Leighton

Wednesday Morning Session

I'm Not a Victim. I'm an Asset– Changing the Mindset of our Most Troubled Youths.

This session suggests that for too long, juvenile justice system have been constrained by a lens problem– seeing youth as either victims or villains– failing, in each sense, to recognize and mobilize the capacities they bring for change and growth in becoming potential resources to their communities. Participants are introduced to concepts such as positive youth development, developing resiliency, respecting and looking for youth strengths, engaging motivation for change, being a collaborator with the youth, and seeing the environment as full of resources that can aid the youth in their own development.

Presenter: Parish Jefferson

The Science of Team Building

We all know that there is a unique art to a team's success. This insightful presentation will show the science involved in what phenomenal dynamics occur when teams harmoniously work towards specific goals.

Presenter: Randy Perdue, WVDOC Training Director
